人間宝、
国語る。受け継がれる千年の美

Encounter with Living National Treasures

Featuring approximately one hundred decorative art (Kōgei) works on board, ASUKA II, a luxurious cruise ship will be docked in New York. In a special event in this rarely-seen venue, two recognized Living National Treasures, Kazumi Murose and Gengiro Okura, will discuss the essence of their respective crafts and performing arts with Seiichi Kondo from TAKUMI-Art du Japon. Monica Bincsik, a curator from The MET, will share insights about the history of Japanese craftsmanship. The talk will be live streamed to the public.
